Two Writs of Error Allowed in .Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals.

WILL DISCUSS DEBT CASE

Attorneys for Virginia to Meet To-Morrow-Captain Wise Is Successful.

Questions of the right to claim damages from transportation companies because of smoke, cinders, dust, odors and noise are again before the Supreme, Court of Appeals, This matter has been of late years very much in the courts, and not long since the Supreme Court passed upon a question of the courts, in which the courts is not the plaintiff was awarded possession of 187 1-2 acres of land and $125 damages.

Whealton and D. N. Wisherd from a judgment of the Circuit Court of Northampton county in action of Northampton county in action of Northampton county in a cuton of Northampton county in an action of Nor preme Court passed upon a question of this sort, in which the cause of offense was said to have come from a roundbouse.

In the present instance the issue is before the highest State tribunal on an appeal of the Southern Railway Company from a decision of the Circuit Court of the city of Alexandria, in which Alice McMenamin and her husband, Richard McMenamin and her husband, Richard McMenamin, were the complainants.

Mrs. McMenamin owns a lot in the city, which is opposite an electric plant, coal chute and stationary engines established by the railway. Her home is situated on this lot. She claims that the work of filling the engines with coal and of firing them has caused the injury for which she seeks damages. The smoke, canders, soot impregnated with acid, poisonous and disagreeable gases and noise are said to emanate from this source. The result is injury to furniture and clothing, and also to trees and ilowers.

She sucd for $7,500 damages, being awarded $2,250 by the jury. A writ of error from this judgment was yesterday allowed.

Might Be Another.

In its defense the railway says that the tracks of the vashington Southern Railway, over which many trains pass, are between Mrs. McMenamin's property and the tracks of the Southern, and that it would be impossible, where result is injury to furniture and clothers, and also to trees and flowers.

She sued for $7,500 damages, being awarded $2,250 by the jury. A writ of error from this judgment was yesterday allowed.

Might Be Another.

In its defense the railway says that the tracks of the "ashington Southern Railway, over which many trains pass, are between Mrs. McManamin's property and the tracks of the Southern, and that it would be impossible, where there are two such sources of smoke and dust, to distinguish whence they came. Attention is called to the difficulty of tracing a column of smoke from one engine, through its intermingling with others, into the house of the complainant.

Counsel for the railway patiently explains in the petition for a writ of error that it is necessary to have coal interes at the railway lines, since trains or

With Pain. Itching Settled from Knee to Toes. Physicians Cost a Fortune. No Relief. Went to Hospital 3 Years. Unable to Help.

Finally Used Cuticura and Was Completely Cured.

"I began to have an itching over my whole body about seven years ago and this settled in my limb, from the knee to the toes. I went to see a great many physicians, a matter which cost me a fortune, and after I noticed that I did not get any relief that way, I went for three years to the hospital. But they were unable to help me there. I used all the medicines that I could see but became worse and worse. I had an inflammation which made me almost crazy with pain. When I showed my foot to my friends they would get really frightened. I did not know what to do: I was so sick and had become so nervous that I positively lost all hope.

"I had seen the advertisement of the Cuticurs Remedies a great many times but could not make up my mind to buy them, for I had already used so many medicines. Finally I-did deelde to use the Cuticura Remedies after the support of the cuticurs and I tell you that I was never so pleased.

Whealton and Wisherd had leased the ground in dispute from Marion Scott for the purpose of planting oysters. The Doughty lands adjoin. The land sued for its a marsh between high ground and the ocean, and is covered with water in high tide.

The question involved is as to whether or not a certain drain or "gut" goes dry at any time. If it does, it is the limit of low water, and belongs to the plaintiff, but if not it is the leased property of the defendant firm. Around this point the testimony was given. It is suggested that perhaps the title to the land is still in the State under a statute of 1679.

HARRISONBURG GIRL HELD IN WASHINGTON

ISpecial to The Times-Dispatch.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Washington, D. C., September 15.—
Captain Boardman is still detaining the Conrad girl, who comes from Harrisonburg, Va. She was arrested last night at the union station by Detective Horn, while in company with a news butcher, Clyde J. Carpenter, twenty-six years old.

All day the inspector has been expecting the child's father, accompanied by the Chief of Police, from the Virginia town, but he has not appeared. Horn declares that when he learned that the girl had come away from her home in Harrisonburg on the promise of the news vender to obtain employment for her he placed both the man and the girl under arrest to insure her protection.

The girl is the daughter of Jacob Conrad, a contractor of Harrisonburg, and she declared that she left her home with the full knowledge of her parents.

and Deputy United States Marshals Walter Wainwright and J. T. Buckner, arrested Fitzgerald at his insurance brokerage offices in La Salle Street just as the former subtreasury teller was leaving for home.

Fitzgerald was first taken to United States Marshal Hoys's office, where he was searched. He was then handsuffed and placed in a cell.

Fitzgerald was taken before Judge
K. M. Landis. He was formally arraigned and his ball was fixed at $50,000. Being unable to give bond in this sum, he was taken to jail.

The indictment against Fitzgerald, as read in court, specifies four counts.
Three charge embezzlement and the fourth charges larceny. Under these charges a maximum sentence of ten years in a Federal prison or a fine equal to the sum embezzled is the penalty on conviction.

Has Sufficient Evidence.

United States District Attorney Edwin W. Sims refuses to say what prompted his order for Fitzgerald's arrest, but declares that he feit sufficient evidence was in hand to warrant such procedure.

The Subtreasury loss occurred on Februdry 20, 1907. The money was all in $1,000 and $10,000 bills. Federal officers throughout the country were brought into the hunt for the missing money.

For three years all persons found to have $1,000 and $10,000 bills were subjected to open or covert scrutiny by secret service agents.

The $173,000 disappeared from Fitzgerald's cage in the Subtreasury.
When questioned regarding the disappearance of the money Fitzserald said that he had gone out to lunch,
and that when he returned the money was gone. He was closely questioned at the time and was shadowed for months.

A year after the robbery occurred.
Fitzgerald was arrested by a private detective agency acting for William Boldenweck, the Subtreasurer. The charge was not pressed, however, and Fitzgerald instituted damage suits against Boldenweck and the detective agency.
